

Green

You are the one who got in touch with your former partners and set up this meeting. Remember that the band hasn't met in fifteen years for a reason, so you must have been strongly motivated to arrange this get-together.

While you think about your character, try answering these questions:

- ▶ Why did you decide to reunite with your former partners?
- ▶ How do you feel about the end of the band?
- ▶ What have you been doing since the band's split-up?
- ▶ What are the band's unresolved conflicts?

Red

One of your former partners called you for a meeting, but you do not want the band to reunite. Remember that the band hasn't met in fifteen years for a reason, so you must have a good motivation not to want to return to the stage.

While you think about your character, try answering these questions:

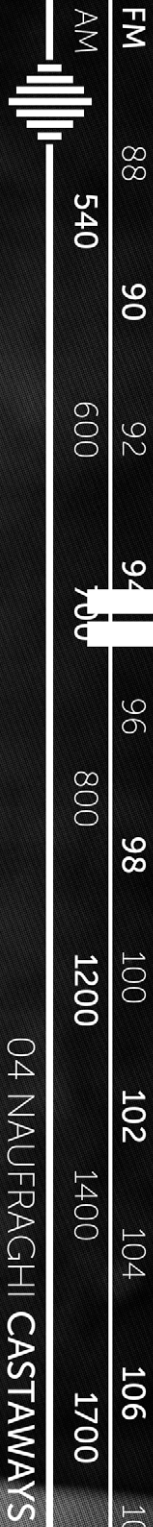

- ▶ Why have you shown up at the meeting?
- ▶ How do you feel about the end of the band?
- ▶ What have you been doing since the band's split-up?
- ▶ What are the band's unresolved conflicts?

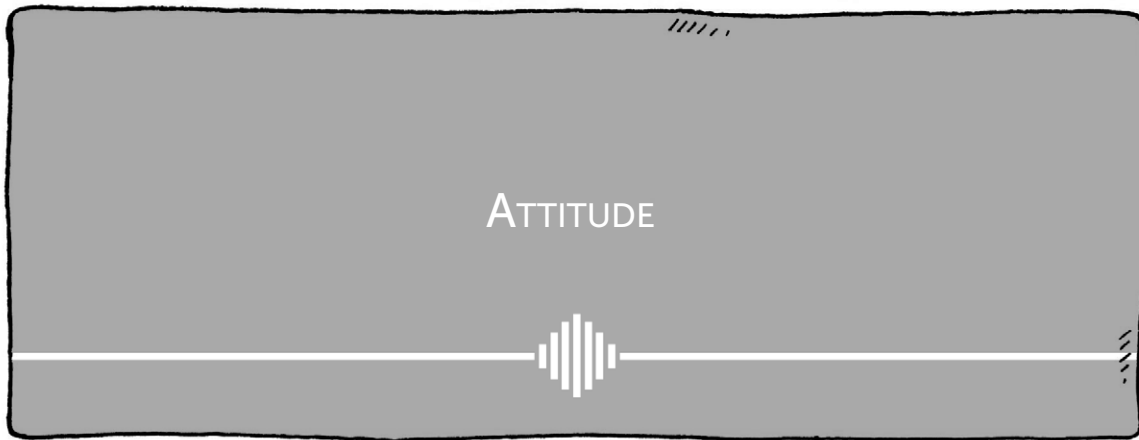

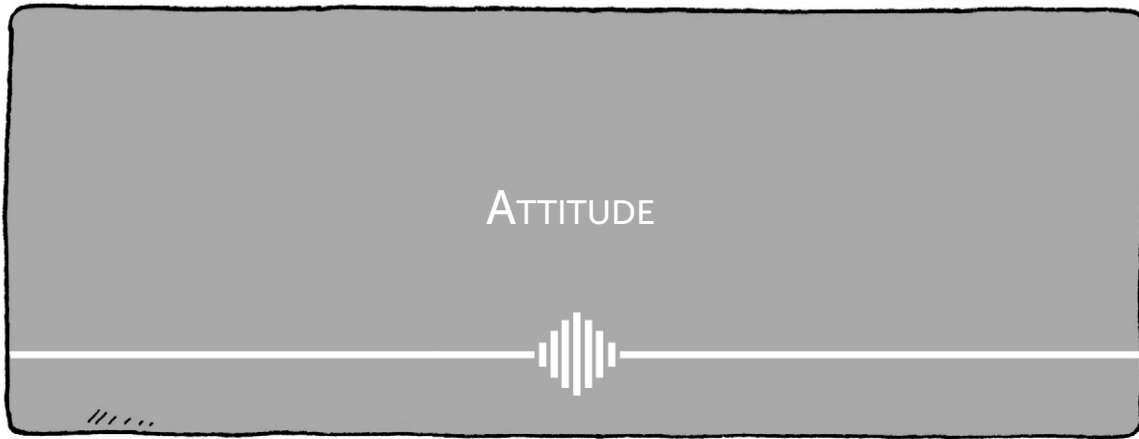

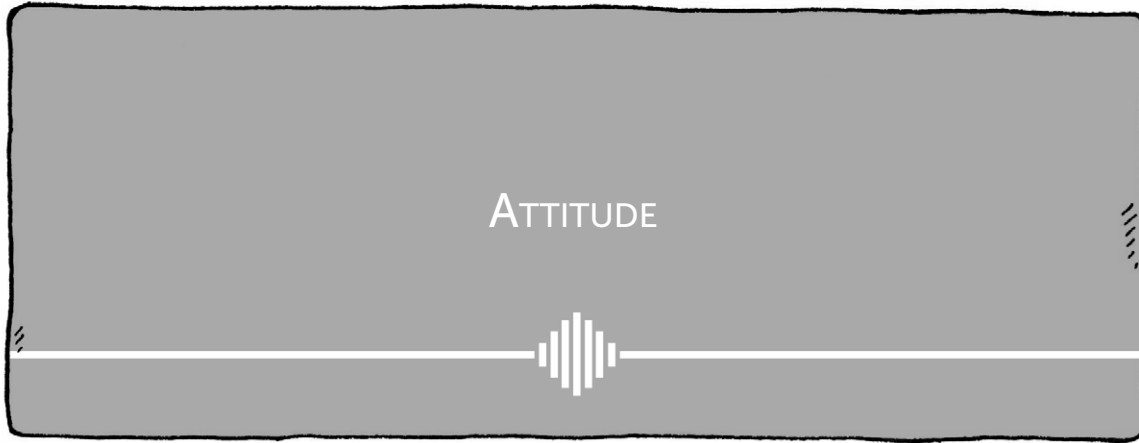

Yellow

One of your former partners called you for a meeting, but you are not sure about getting the band back together. Remember that the band hasn't met in fifteen years for a reason, so you must have a good motivation for your hesitation.

While you think about your character, try answering these questions:

- ▶ Why have you shown up at the meeting?
- ▶ How do you feel about the end of the band?
- ▶ What have you been doing since the band's split-up?
- ▶ What are the band's unresolved conflicts?

Yellow

One of your former partners called you for a meeting, but you are not sure about getting the band back together. Remember that the band hasn't met in fifteen years for a reason, so you must have a good motivation for your hesitation.

While you think about your character, try answering these questions:

- ▶ Why have you shown up at the meeting?
- ▶ How do you feel about the end of the band?
- ▶ What have you been doing since the band's split-up?
- ▶ What are the band's unresolved conflicts?

Yellow

One of your former partners called you for a meeting, but you are not sure about getting the band back together. Remember that the band hasn't met in fifteen years for a reason, so you must have a good motivation for your hesitation.

While you think about your character, try answering these questions:

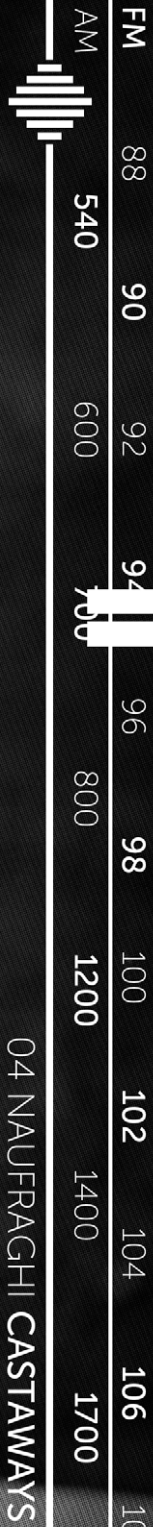

- ▶ Why have you shown up at the meeting?
- ▶ How do you feel about the end of the band?
- ▶ What have you been doing since the band's split-up?
- ▶ What are the band's unresolved conflicts?

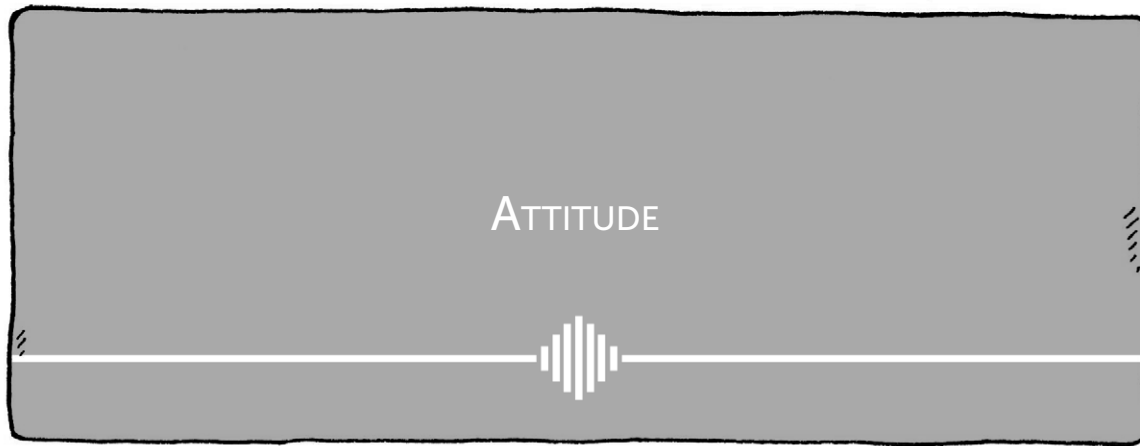

Yellow

One of your former partners called you for a meeting, but you are not sure about getting the band back together. Remember that the band hasn't met in fifteen years for a reason, so you must have a good motivation for your hesitation.

While you think about your character, try answering these questions:

- ▶ Why have you shown up at the meeting?
- ▶ How do you feel about the end of the band?
- ▶ What have you been doing since the band's split-up?
- ▶ What are the band's unresolved conflicts?

Yellow

One of your former partners called you for a meeting, but you are not sure about getting the band back together. Remember that the band hasn't met in fifteen years for a reason, so you must have a good motivation for your hesitation.

While you think about your character, try answering these questions:

- ▶ Why have you shown up at the meeting?
- ▶ How do you feel about the end of the band?
- ▶ What have you been doing since the band's split-up?
- ▶ What are the band's unresolved conflicts?