

You've always loved finding ways to spice up your life. Bold choices and strong, uncompromising flavours. It has made you happy, though not always. Of course, nobody's happy all the time. Sometimes, in hindsight, you realise you shouldn't have insisted with the waiter to get that Indonesian dish with extra hot sauce. But you can't help it, that's just who you are.

The only bitterness left on your tongue is B., and all the time you could've spent together. If only you'd been there. Nothing is lost, however, not as long as you have your special cookie recipe and every intention to make your life smell like home again. Now you're here, and B. can count on you, with all your experiences and excesses. With all the spice they need.

Tips

What relationship do you share? Ask B. to rule one out and pick from the rest.

- | | | |
|--------------|--------------|--------------|
| Relationship | Relationship | Relationship |
| ▼ Family | ▼ Romance | ▼ Friendship |